Organizational History

TRIO

The creation of the TRIO Programs began with the Educational Opportunity Act of 1964, the War on Poverty Statue which created the Upward Bound Program. In 1965, the Higher Education Act created Talent Search Program. The first reauthorization of the Higher Education Act in 1968 created the Special Services Program. By 1968, the original TRIO Programs, the Upward Bound, Talent Search, and Special Services were established. In that same year, the Upward Bound Program was placed into the Higher Education Act.

The beginnings of TRIO Programs in Florida can be clearly traced to Florida A&M University. In 1965, that institution was awarded a federal grant to conduct several nationwide pilot programs designed to afford low-income students the opportunity to attend college.

Personnel in Special Programs

The impetus for the organization of Florida Association of Educational Opportunity Program Personnel (FAEOPP) resulted from the assemblage of several Florida Upward Bound Directors in Tampa (1970). These Upward Bound Directors met at the University of South Florida under the direction of Richard F. Pride and initiated an organization called Personnel in Special Programs.

In 1971, the Personnel in Special Programs had another meeting in West Palm Beach to plan statewide Upward Bound activities and to establish collaboration linkages. Officials from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare-Office of Education, who also attended the meeting, were very impressed with the organization of the Florida group. By 1972, each of the eight states in the Southeastern Region all had organizations similar to Florida's Personnel in Special Programs.

Southeastern Association for Educational Opportunity Program Personnel (SAEOPP)

By 1973, selected representatives from each of the Southeastern States were chosen to be on the Advisory Board that was formed by the Program Officers of Region IV of the U.S. Office of Education. Richard F. Pride was the Chairman of the Advisory Board during the 1973-74year. The Advisory Board members met periodically in Atlanta at the request of the Program Officers. In addition to representing their state, the Advisory Board members had the responsibility of planning conferences and providing input to the regional officials on matters concerning TRIO programs. These Regional Advisory Boards, in retrospect, turned out to be a precursor to our present regional organizations (Southeastern Association for Educational Opportunity Program Personnel/SAEOPP).

In 1976, after several years of discussions concerning the formation of a regional organization that could openly advocate for the concerns and needs of TRIO participants, the Southeastern Association of Educational Opportunity Program Personnel (SAEOPP) was finally organized. However, ratification by all the states in the Southeastern Region did not occur until several years later.

Florida Association of Educational Opportunity Program Personnel (FAEOPP)

On October 29, 1978, in Gainesville, Florida, the Florida Association of Educational Opportunity Program Personnel was formerly organized. The Articles of Incorporation for FAEOPP were filed on June 8, 1998, with amendments on May 10, 1999, November 5, 2007, and November 2, 2010.

On February 4, 1983, at the Southeastern Association of Educational Opportunity Program Personnel (SAEOPP) in Atlanta, Georgia, the Constitution and By-laws of the Florida Association of Education Opportunity Program Personnel (FAEOPP) was initially established and approved by the membership of the Florida Association. In December 2016, members approved FAEOPP to be changed to Florida TRIO.

The document was amended (February 4, 1983; February 28, 1993; November 2001; November 18, 2004; January 4, 2010; February 2011; and December 5, 2016) and approved by the membership (via electronic vote) on December 5, 2016.
