

Keynote Speaker

Alvin Phillips
Council for Opportunity in Education

Alvin Phillips is the Senior Vice President for Membership and Human Resources at the Council on Opportunity in Education. He has served the Council since retiring from the U.S. Army at the grade of Lieutenant Colonel after 20 years of active duty. Mr. Phillips started at the Council as a volunteer, and spent his first 10 years directing the Legislation and Regulations Training program. He has many years of experience working with Human Resources and has led the Council's membership drive since 2006. He has a background in organizational effectiveness and has a long history of management experience. He attended Arkansas State University in Jonesboro, Arkansas for his undergraduate degree and the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville for graduate school. Mr. Phillips is married to Colonel (Retired) Tia Johnson who served as the Assistant Secretary for Legislative Affairs at the Department of Homeland Security during the Obama Administration and is currently a Distinguished Lecturer from Government at the Georgetown Law Center in Washington, DC.
